BATO, JR., J.:

Acting on petitioner's Withdrawal of Petition[1] dated March 5, 2014, stating, among others, that it is no longer pursuing the instant petition, despite private respondents' objection anchored on the ground that they have raised “issues and claims in the nature of a counter claim” embodied in their Manifestation Of Compliance With Comments dated April 15, 2014, considering petitioner's Counter-Manifestation dated May 7, 2014 that the assailed Consolidated Decision dated June 17, 2013 and Consolidated Resolution dated July 31, 2013 of the NLRC have become final and executory in so far as private respondents are concerned because they have not filed a separate and independent petition assailing the same, considering further the ruling of the Supreme Court in the case of Unilever Philippines Inc. vs. Maria Ruby Rivera[2], that “a party who does not appeal, or file a petition for certiorari, is not entitled to any affirmative relief”, the withdrawal of the petition is GRANTED.

Private respondents' Manifestation dated March 29, 2014 and their Motion To Suspend The Period Filing Of Comment dated April 1, 2014 are merely NOTED.

ACCORDINGLY, the above-entitled case is considered CLOSED and TERMINATED.

Let the instant case be deleted in the Court's docket.

SO ORDERED.

Zalameda and Sempio-Diy, JJ., concur.
