[3] SEC. 8. Dismissal of appeal for abandonment or failure to prosecute. - The Court of Appeals may, upon motion of the appellee or motu proprio and with notice to the appellant in either case, dismiss the appeal if the appellant fails to file his brief within the time prescribed by this Rule, except where the appellant is represented by a counsel de oficio.

Petitioner allegedly filed the following ex parte motions for the re-computation and release of the award and issuance of the writ of execution before said quasi-courts:

Private respondent further insisted that the case is outside the ambit of the Supreme Court's ruling particularly
