- D. To provide accountability and responsibility on the Division Chief concerned in cases of recurrence of the same or similar offense;
- E. To expedite the conduct of the preliminary investigation.

II.

General Provisions

- 1. If an offense is committed and there is reasonable ground to believe, even before the conduct of the preliminary investigation, that a Customs employee is probably guilty thereof, as in cases where the offense committed is documented or if the employee is caught red-handed, the Division Chief concerned shall cause his immediate relief and immediately recommend to the District Collector/Service Chief his transfer to a non-sensitive assignment, where he can make himself available for the investigation and where he cannot influence the outcome thereof.
- 2. The Head of the Division concerned shall conduct an initial investigation and submit an Incident Report with his findings and recommendations (Annex "A") to the District Collector/Service Chief. Commissioner on whatever actions that need to be taken by the Bureau.
