PER CURIAM:

For automatic review is the Decision[1] dated July 31, 1998 of the Regional Trial Court, Branch 46, Urdaneta, Pangasinan in Criminal Case NO. U-9590, convicting Moreno Ocumen y Mendoza (alias Moring), appellant, of qualified rape and sentencing him to suffer the supreme penalty of death. He was further ordered to pay the victim, AAA, the sum of P50,000 as moral damages and P20,000.00 as exemplary damages.

The accusatory portion of the Information filed against appellant reads:

"That on February 23, 1998, at Barangay xxxxxxxxxxxx and within the jurisdiction of this Honorable Court, the above-named accused, by means of force and intimidation, did then and there willfully, unlawfully and feloniously have sexual intercourse with AAA, a minor 9 years old, and accused's own niece, or relative within the third civil degree, against her will and without her consent, to her damage and prejudice.

"CONTRARY to Article 335 of the Revised Penal Code, as amended by R.A. 7679."[2]

Upon arraignment, appellant, assisted by counsel, pleaded not guilty to the charge. Trial ensued thereafter.

The evidence for the prosecution shows that AAA was born on July 29, 1989 to spouses xxxxxxxx and xxxxxxxxxxxx as shown by the certified true copy of her Certificate of Live Birth.[3] They live in Barangay xxxxxxxxxxxx.

On February 23, 1998, at about 8:00 o'clock in the morning, AAA, then nine (9) years old and a Grade III pupil, attended classes at the Don Benito Elementary School in Pozorrubio, Pangasinan. On her way home at 11:00 o'clock that same morning, she met appellant whom she identified in court as her uncle, he being the brother of her mother. Suddenly, he pulled her towards a forested area. There, he removed her shortpants and panty, after which he likewise removed his longpants and shorts. Then he made her lay on the ground and inserted his penis into her vagina. At the moment she felt pain and cried. Thereafter, she wore her shorts.[4]

At about the same time, Juan Flores, appellant's nephew, was walking towards the spring located at the adjoining Barangay of xxxxxxxx Pozorrubio to take a bath. While passing by the forested area, he saw from a distance of about 10 to 15 meters, the appellant on top of AAA. Flores observed that both were naked and that appellant was having sexual intercourse with her.[5]

After the incident, AAA went home and met her grandmother xxxxxxxxxxxx, the mother of her father. When xxxxxxxx asked AAA where she came from, the latter revealed to her that she was sexually abused (iniyot) by appellant in a forested place near the road.[6] Immediately xxxxxxxxxxxx brought her to their barangay captain and reported the matter. They likewise sought assistance from the Police Station at Pozorrubio where they executed their respective sworn statements[7] on the incident.

More than a week thereafter, or on March 6, 1998, AAA was physically examined by Dr. Francisco L. Llamas, chief of the Pozorrubio Community Hospital. He issued a Medical Certificate[8] with the following findings:

Victim is conscious, coherent, cooperative;

2.

No physical findings in other parts of the body;

3.

There is an old (healed) laceration at 3 o'clock position of the hymen;

4.

Unable to insert even the lubricated little finger of the examiner. Victim can't bear the pain when the examiner tried to push the tip of the lubricated little finger further deeper;

5.

Smear for spermatozoa was not performed for the alleged incident happened more than one week ago."
(Emphasis supplied)

Dr. Llamas explained that the laceration of AAA's hymen was more that a week old. When he interviewed her, she disclosed that she was sexually molested by appellant, her own uncle.[9]

Appellant denied having raped AAA, whom he admitted is his own niece, she being the daughter of his sister xxxxxxxxxxxx. He declared that on February 23, 1998, he was at home in Don Benito, Pozorrubio with his father, brothers and nephews, making some handicrafts. He claimed that the filing of the rape charge against him was instigated by xxxxxxxxxxxx, AAA's father, who felt slighted after he warned him not to manhandle his wife xxxxxxxxxxxx every time they quarrel.[10] xxxxxx, AAAs' mother, testified for the defense. She declared that appellant is her full-blooded brother. She observed nothing unusual with her daughter when she came home from school at around 11:45 in the morning of February 23, 1998. In fact, she went back to school after taking her lunch. xxxxxxxx believed it was xxxxxxxx, her mother-in-law, who instigated the filing of the rape charge against appellant.[11]

xxxxxxxxxxxx and xxxxxxxxxxxx, appellant's father and sister, respectively, corroborated appellant's claim that on the day in question they were all together in their house making handicrafts.[12]

Alfredo Tabor, a resident of Barangay xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx, testified that in the morning of February 23, 1998, he was fishing in a spring at Barangay xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx. There, he saw Julia Rolio who was then washing clothes, and Juan Flores (a witness for the prosecution) about to take a bath. Between 11:00 and 12:00 o'clock noon that same day, he saw AAA and a classmate passed by. Appellant was not around nor was there an unusual incident that happened.[13]

The trial court, in its Decision dated July 31, 1998, found appellant guilty of the crime charged and sentenced him to death, thus:

"WHEREFORE, JUDGMENT of CONVICTION beyond reasonable doubt is hereby rendered against MORENO OCUMEN in CRIM. CASE NO. U-9590 of the crime of RAPE aggravated by relationship (between uncle and niece within the 3[rd] degree of consanguinity), and the Court hereby sentences MORENO OCUMEN to suffer the penalty of DEATH to be implemented in the manner as provided for by law. The accused is hereby ordered to pay AAA the sum of P50,000.00 as moral damages and P20,000.00 as exemplary damages.

xxx xxx xxx

"SO ORDERED." [14]

Appellant, in his brief, ascribes to the trial court the following errors:

"I

THE TRIAL COURT ERRED IN FINDING THE APPELLANT GUILTY BEYOND REASONABLE DOUBT OF THE CRIME OF RAPE.

"II

THE TRIAL COURT ERRED IN ORDERING THE APPELLANT TO PAY PRIVATE COMPLAINANT THE SUM OF P50,000.00 AS MORAL DAMAGES AND P20,000.00 AS EXEMPLARY DAMAGES."

Appellant contends that the prosecution's version of the incident is unworthy of belief. He argues that xxxxxxxx's testimony that her daughter AAA had not shown any strange behavior upon coming home from school that day and that she even returned to school after taking her lunch, has effectively discredited the evidence for the prosecution. That AAA was not also crying, when she revealed the incident to her grandmother xxxxxxxx Dominga that day, likewise indicates that she was lying.

We are not impressed.

Our consistent pronouncement is that where, as here, the issue involves the assessment of credibility of witnesses, the reviewing court will not ordinarily disturb or set aside the findings of the trial court which gave due weight and credence to their testimonies. This is so because the trial court is in a better position to decide such issue, having personally heard the witnesses and observed their deportment and manner of testifying. Such findings are accorded finality, unless the trial court has overlooked certain substantial and valuable facts appearing in the record which, if considered, might alter the result of the case.[15]

After a carefully reviewing the records, we find no cogent reason to disturb the findings and conclusions of the court below.

In giving full credence to AAA's declaration, it held:

"The testimony of AAA is not rehearsed or directed. On the contrary, AAA testified in a manner reflective of a 9-year old child. She is positive and categorical, unswerving and sure of what she told the Court that her Uncle Moreno Ocumen pulled her to a forested area and afterwards, Ocumen removed her shortpant and panty. She further testified that Ocumen also removed his long pants and short, thereafter, Ocumen went on top of her. A portion of the penis of Ocumen was inserted to her vagina. The mere knocking at the door of the pudenda is sufficient to consummate the crime of rape (People vs. Abella, 228 SCRA 662 [1993]; People vs. Tismo, 204 SCRA 535 [1991]). It is likewise held that the briefest contact of the penis to the labia is enough to sustain conviction of a consummated rape (People vs. Evangelista, 282 SCRA 37 [1997]).

xxx xxx xxx

"When AAA went home accompanied by Ocumen, she emphatically and immedaitely reported the matter to her grandmother, xxxxxxxx Dominga Rubio, the she was `iniyot' (sexually abused) by Ocumen. Together with her grandmother (xxxxxxx), they went to the Brgy. Captain and thereafter, to the PNP Pozorrubio where the statements of AAA (Exhibit `E') and xxxxxxxxx (Exhibit `B') were taken."

The Trial Court has not overlooked substantial facts which could alter the result of the case. Its findings of fact are supported by evidence. AAA's narration has clearly established the charge that she was sexually ravished by appellant, thus:

The foregoing testimonies are manifestly credible. They are marked by spontaneity, honesty and sincerity. Well-settled is the rule that when a witness' testimony is straightforward, candid and unflawed by inconsistencies or contradictions in material points, as in this case, the same must be given full faith and credit.[20] As to AAA's declarations, it is inconceivable that she would publicly disclose the harrowing and humiliating sexual indignity she experienced in the hands of appellant if it really did not happen.[21]

That AAA, upon arriving home after the incident, was acting normally and was not crying do not necessarily render her testimony unworthy of belief. Behavioral psychology teaches that people react to similar situations dissimilarly. There is no standard form of behavior when one is confronted with a strange, startling or frightful experience. The workings of the human mind under such a situation is unpredictable. Similarly, not every rape victim can be expected to act conformably to the usual expectations of every one – some may shout, some may faint, and some may be shocked into insensibility, while others may openly welcome the intrusion.[22] Thus, it is not proper to judge the actions of children who have undergone traumatic experiences by the norms of behavior expected from mature persons under similar circumstances. Indeed, we have not laid down any rule on how a rape victim should behave immediately after she has been abused. This experience is relative and may be dealt with in any way by the victim depending on the circumstances, but her credibility should not be tainted by any modicum of doubt.[23]

What is certain, though, is that AAA's testimony is not contrived, for it has been bolstered by Juan Flores' account of how appellant's lustful bestiality was forced on his helpless 9-year old niece. That her femininity was indeed shattered by appellant is consistent with the medical findings of Dr. Llamas that her hymen has an old-healed laceration at 3:00 o'clock position.

Appellant could not even explain why the prosecution witnesses testified against him. In any case, motive is never an essential element of a crime. It becomes inconsequential in a case where, as here, there are affirmative, nay, categorical declarations toward the appellant's culpability for the felony.[24]

In stark contrast to AAA's convincing recital of facts is appellant's hackneyed defense of denial and alibi. An intrinsically weak defense, denial must be buttressed by strong evidence of non-culpability in order to merit credibility. It is a negative self-serving assertion that deserves no weight in law if unsubstantiated by clear and convincing evidence.[25] Here, such defense cannot stand against the positive testimonies by both AAA and Juan Flores that appellant defiled her womanhood.

Appellant's claim that he was at home in Barangay Don Benito, Pozorrubio the whole day of February 23, 1998 making some handicrafts does not persuade us. Deeply imbedded in our jurisprudence is the rule that an accused who raises the defense of alibi must not only prove his presence at another place at the time of commission of the crime, he must also establish that it would be physically impossible for him to be at the scene of the crime during the incident. It bears stressing that both Barangays Don Benito and xxxxxxxx Malokiat adjoin each other and are located within the municipality of Pozorrubio. Clearly, it was not physically impossible for appellant to be at the scene of the crime at that time.

We thus hold that appellant is guilty beyond reasonable doubt of rape. As the crime was committed on February 23, 1998, the law applicable is Republic Act No. 8353[26] (incorporated in the Revised Penal Code as Articles 266-A and 266-B) which took effect on October 22, 1997. The law partly provides:

"Article 266-A. Rape; When and How Committed. – Rape is committed:

1) By man who shall have carnal knowledge of a woman under any of the following circumstances:

Through force, threat, or intimidation;

b)

When the offended party is deprived of reason or otherwise unconscious;

c)

By means of fraudulent machination or grave abuse of authority; and

d)

When the offended party is under twelve (12) years of age or is demented, even though none of the circumstances mentioned above be present.

xxx xxx xxx

"Article 266-B. Penalties. – Rape under paragraph 1 of the next preceding article shall be punished by reclusion perpetua.

xxx xxx xxx

"The death penalty shall also be imposed if the crime of rape is committed with any of the following aggravating/qualifying circumstances:

1) when the victim is under eighteen (18) years of age and the offender is a parent, ascendant, stepparent, guardian, relative by consanguinity or affinity within the third civil degree, or the common-law spouse of the parent of the victim;

xxx xxx xxx

(Emphasis supplied)

Pursuant to Article 266-B, the qualifying, circumstances of minority and relationship must concur. As these circumstances, if proven, raise the penalty of the crime to death, great caution must be exercised in their evaluation. For these circumstances to be appreciated, both must be specifically alleged in the Information and duly proved during the trial with equal certainty as the crime itself.[27] Indeed, Sections 8 and 9 of Rule 110 of the Revised Rules of Criminal Procedure, as amended, specifically require both qualifying and aggravating circumstances to be alleged in the Information.[28]

Here, the minority of the victim – that she was 9 years old when she was raped on February 23, 1998 – and her relationship with appellant – that she is his niece or relative within the third civil degree - have been alleged in the Information and sufficiently established during the trial. The prosecution has proven that AAA was born on July 29, 1989 as shown by the certified true copy of her Certificate of Live Birth. It has likewise established that she is the niece of appellant, he being the brother of her mother xxxxxxxx Salvacion. It bears stressing that xxxxxxxx Salvacion also admitted that appellant is her brother. Thus, we are constrained to affirm the death penalty imposed upon him by the trial court.

Finally, as regards appellant's liability for damages, we observed that the trial court failed to award the victim indemnity ex delicto. We have held that upon finding of the fact of rape, such award of indemnity is mandatory.[29] Pursuant to current jurisprudence, the victim should be awarded indemnity ex delicto in the amount of P75,000.00 since appellant is found guilty of qualified rape under the applicable amendatory law which authorizes the imposition or the death penalty.[30]

The award of moral damages should be increased to P75,000.00 considering that appellant is guilty of qualified rape.[31] Also, we have to increase the exemplary damages to P25,000.00 to deter other individuals with perverse tendencies and aberrant sexual behavior.[32]

Three members of the Court, although maintaining their adherence to the separate opinions expressed in People vs. Echegaray that R.A. No. 7659, insofar as it prescribes the penalty of death, is unconstitutional, nevertheless submit to the ruling of the majority that the law is constitutional and that the death penalty should accordingly be imposed.

WHEREFORE, the Decision of the Regional Trial Court, Branch 46, Urdaneta, Pangasinan, in Criminal Case NO. U-9590, convicting appellant Moreno Ocumen y Mendoza alias Moring of qualified rape and sentencing him to suffer the penalty of death, is hereby AFFIRMED with the modification that he is ordered to pay the victim, AAA, P75,000.00 as indemnity ex delicto; P75,000.00 as moral damages; and P25,000.00 as exemplary damages.

In consonance with Section 25 of Republic Act No. 7659, amending Article 83 of the Revised Penal Code, upon finality of this Decision, let the records of this case be forwarded to the Office of the President for the possible exercise of her pardoning power.
